

CHARIS JOHNSON

Co-Founder and Executive Director at National Registry for Adoption (NRFA)

Key Focus: Connecting Adoptable Embryos with their Adoptive Families

As NRFA's executive director, Charis Johnson brings more than ten years of experience in marketing, fundraising, and event management. She has served as the director of operations at the Luis Palau Association and the director of global outreach for Habitat for Humanity International.

As a recipient of a successful embryo adoption, Charis (CARE-iss) serves as a voice for families seeking to donate or adopt embryos. Her personal story of embryo adoption has been featured on several national and local news outlets, including Good Housekeeping and CBS.

As experienced entrepreneurs, Charis and NRFA co-founder Katie Cline founded NRFA in 2014 to ease the challenges of donating embryos or finding a match in an adoption registry. They know how long and frustrating the adoption process can be, so they do their best to make adopting or matching easy and fast.

CONNECT WITH CHARIS

-  charis.boone@nrfa.org
-  www.nrfa.org
-  in/haris-boone-johnson-3888b420/
-  @NRFA
-  /NRFA.org

INTERVIEW TOPICS

- The entrepreneurial instinct
- I adopted 21 embryos to grow my family
- Growing a business while undergoing infertility treatments
- Giving birth to an adopted child
- 10 benefits to adopting an embryo